

All-Wool Pants
MADE TO ORDER
FOR $3.50 CASH.
M. E. FOHS, The Tailor.

The Crittenden Press.

MARION, CRITTENDEN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, OCTOBER 31, 1895.

M. E. FOHS,
Merchant Tailor
MARION, KY.
Receives new goods every day. Suits
made to order $15.00 and upwards.
All-wool pants made to order $3.50.

VOLUME 16.

NUMBER 21

SOME GREAT PRODUCTIONS.

Prominent Men Who Have Sprung From Livingston County.

Salem, Ky., Oct. 28th 1895.

Ed. PUESAT:—The Press has been a weekly visitor to my home from its birth to the present time, and my love for it has become stronger, and stronger as each week we meet. I am proud of the stand it has so ably, and justly taken on the silver question. For quite a while I tried to contribute to the Press, but years have passed since then, and as a wanderer lives to return to his home, I would love to return once more to the home of the Press, and to write of some of the men of old Livingston county, whom we are proud of. We love to talk of men who have grown to fame, and for them, who were born, and raised in our own country. It would take up too much space in your paper to give an account of the lives of all the men who have become very wealthy, or become prominent in politics were once citizens of Livingston county. Some have made great lawyers, some great doctors, I will mention some now and later on the others. There is Marion Martin, born on a farm in this county, and many years ago while yet a young man he went to Texas with barely enough money to get him there, and begun the battle of life. His education was limited, but he had plenty of hay-horse sense, and energy, grit and determination unlimited. He wore out every obstacle that came in his way and not only grew wealthy, but became one of the most prominent men in the political affairs of the State of Texas.

John Base, was born in old Salem, the dearest, and best town in the State of Kentucky. No boy in all of old Livingston county had a harder row to hoe, than honest John Base, but he held it well, and this was his motto: "When you do anything, do it well." When he left Kentucky he said he was going off to make his fortune, he moved to Indiana and is now one of the wealthiest men in that State, being worth millions of dollars.

James Alcorn, was born in Salem, and was once Sheriff of this county, moved to Mississippi, represented that State in Congress, and was elected its Governor.

Judge Kingman, for many years engaged in the practice of law, in Smithland, moved to Kansas, a very poor man, Kansas was a young State at that time and he had to endure many hardships, and privations, but he stuck to his text, and succeeded in going to the head of his profession, and has held many offices of honor in that State, for many years he was one of the judges of the court of Appeals. Mr. Kingman never cared any thing for money, and of course did not get rich. He has always been a great lover of books and has read every thing he could lay his eyes on. He has spent nearly every dollar he made for books, and if he has no money on hands will buy books on a credit. It matters not where you see Kingman, you will find him reading a book, if there is any credit in being called a book-worm, Kingman is entitled to it.

Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, another Livingston county boy, needs nothing from my pen, as every man who reads the political news of the day will be acquainted with him and his grand success in life. As a Livingston county man, I wish him continued success, and happiness to his journey's end.

W. D. Greer, was born on a farm near Salem, and went through all the hard ships of the average boy on a farm; with him it was work and chores, and work from early dawn to dusky night. Dave became weary of this and began to think how to better his condition in life. His only opportunity for school was during the winter months and he made good use of his time, having obtained a good education, he concluded to read law, and bent his energies in that direction he received his license to practice law, and by hard work and close application to his business soon rose to the head of the profession in Smithland. Many years ago he moved to Paducah

Ky. and to day has the largest practice of any lawyer in that city, and his reputation as a lawyer is not confined to the limits of this State. He was in co-partnership in the practice of law with Judge Kingman, many years ago, but he differs from Kingman in this he loves money, as well as books, and has provided well for the rainy day. Every lawyer who has a personal acquaintance with Dave Greer, will admit that he is the hardest working lawyer in this part of the State. He does not know what it is to rest, he works, and works, on his cases day and night, there seems to be no limit to his energy and determination, and that is the key to his success.

But we have one still with us greater than them all, who towers above them in intellect, like the giant oak towers above the persimmon bush. He was not born in this county, but came to us when a young man, with a dollar in his pocket, but he came with principles of honor planted in his loom as firmly as the everlasting hills. He was as poor as Lazarus, but his ambition to become a man loved, respected, and honored by his people, was as great as that of Napoleon, his brain power as great as that of Daniel Webster. I can see him now when he first began the study of law in Smithland, he looked green, and awkward, his clothes were worn thread-bare, almost ragged. He had to board here, and there about town on a credit, while reading law. The birds of the air had nest, and the foxes had holes but this man, had not where to lay his head, had it not been for credit. And I thank God now, for placing on the face of every man that something by which other men can look him in the face and tell whether to give him credit or not, for were it not for this, many a "great diamond in the rough would have to go forever, unpolished and unknown. Soon after this young man began the practice of law he formed a partnership with Hon. J. W. Bush, one of the best lawyers in the State of Kentucky, and who has done more towards helping, and encouraging young lawyers on to success than any man that ever lived in this county. From that time on he went rapidly to the front, he redeemed every pledge he made, and paid ever debt he contracted. Some years afterwards he was elected county attorney, and was re-elected to said office, while in that office he was a perfect terror to evil doers, law breakers, become obedient law abiding citizens, and peace and good order prevailed through out the county. Then he went on higher, and was elected State Senator, and while in Senate, made a national reputation, for every where people have read of the man, called honest Dick Tate, who proved to be a defaulter, and coupled with his name in every paper that gave an account of the affair, is honest John K. Hendrick, who detected Tate in his rascality, and drove him from the State. After that he was elected to the Congress of the United States, defeating the Hon. W. J. Stone, by a large majority. Thus any man defeated his opponent in the race for Congress in the United States, at the last election. Now mark my word, and watch his record in the next Congress, and see if he don't make the best Congressman we have had since the day's of Lion Boyd. I never knew John K. Hendrick but one, and in that he is wrong, as certain as God made man. He is opposed to the free, and unlimited coinage of silver, and in that he is wrong. Free Silver.

Another branch of the auditor's office, the "Foreign Money Order Division," looks after the foreign exchange, for in the principle post offices of the country you can now purchase a money order upon almost any civilized country except Russia, Mexico and the South American Republics. These countries do not even have domestic systems. When a postmaster is asked for a foreign order he gives the applicant a receipt for the sum, and he draws an order upon New York if the money is to be paid in Europe, or upon San Francisco if it is to be paid in Asia. The New York or San Francisco office will send a copy of the order to the exchange office in the proper country and in that country the nearest postmaster will be directed to pay the money to the person for whom it is intended. In many countries, as in Germany, it is taken directly to the house of the party. There is no order given to be mailed by the purchaser directly to the payee, as is the case with domestic orders.

For the Canadian business there are six exchange offices, extending from Bangor to Seattle, and orders are drawn upon the nearest exchange office. The force auditing the domestic accounts requires some three hundred clerks, while a baker's dozen finds no difficulty in keeping up with the foreign business.

The "Bookkeeping Division" requires about seventy-five accountants. All of them are men, because of the great weight of the enormous ledgers in which are kept personal accounts with every postmaster in the United States.

The "Pay Division" audits the accounts of all classes of mail transportation expenses, amounting to upwards of $40,000,000 annually. The divisions referred to are the most important ones in the Sixth Auditor's Office. There are several minor divisions, each having its own particular line of work. The whole represents a wonderfully effective yet simple plan for regulating the postal system of the country.

All Smoke.
The Louisville Times says:
Judge W. H. Gardner, the State Inspector and examiner, is in the city to-day, en route to spend Sunday at his home at Ellensburg, Mo. He is appointed by Gov. Brown four years ago, and his duty is to examine closely the Auditor's office, as well as all other public offices in Kentucky.

A reporter for the Times sought Judge Gardner and asked what there was in the charges made against the Auditor's office, in which it is alleged there is mismanagement and a necessity for making a change in order that the books may be opened to the public.

The reply was as follows:
"The business methods of the Auditor's office are too well known to require a denial of such charges. They are unworthy of notice and are manufactured and circulated for campaign purposes only. The records of this office have not been closed to the public, to my personal knowledge since I have been Inspector, and if a change should be made, which I do not think the people have any idea of making, take my word for it, the Republicans will not find a crookedness or a fraud in that office."

"How do you know this, Judge, in view of the fact that a difference is known to exist between the Governor and Auditor, and it is supposed by some that access to the Auditor's books would be denied you."

"That is a mistaken notion entirely," said the Judge. "A variance does exist, but that has not prevented me from performing my duty, nor the Auditor from affording me full opportunity to do it. Not only has the Auditor not refused me access to the books of his office, but I have had at all times the prompt and ready assistance of any or all the clerks of his office. I can truthfully say that no public office in Kentucky has been more thoroughly overhauled and rigidly examined in detail in every department than this one, reaching back beyond the entire term of Maj. Norman. In fact, I have devoted about one-half of my time since April, 1892, when I was appointed Inspector by Gov. Brown, to an examination of this office, and though I have had various and numerous outside as well as inside official records from which to check against the Auditor's office, I have not discovered a single instance or item in which the State has been defrauded out of a cent."

"As it has been my unvarying rule to shield no guilty man, Democrat or Republican, you may rest assured if any fraud had been discovered by me in this office I would promptly have reported it to the Governor. In addition to the test of honesty which I applied to this office in the matter of public money received by it and paid over to the Treasurer, I can further say its leading features under the splendid system maintained by Auditor Norman are neatness, courtesy, efficiency, accuracy and a painstaking care to guard the interest of the State, and to properly discharge every duty incumbent upon the office. With his superior corps of clerks, his office could not be otherwise than in a first-class and honestly conducted."

Sound Advice to Democrats.
"To me it is quite clear that the sound money men should keep in touch with all the members of the Democratic party. By doing so we may bring the united Democracy of the State to the support of sound money candidate for the Presidency 1896. It would be fatal to the cause in Kentucky to array the Democrats in two hostile factions. The path of safety lies in keeping together and in electing our State ticket. When that is done we can take up the work of preparing for the national campaign of 1896, and can work together through a compact Democratic organization."—Senator Lindsay.

Will not Return to Henderson.
LOUISVILLE Oct. 25.—A dispatch from Frankfort to-day states that Gov. Jno. Young Brown has fully determined to take up his residence in this city as soon as his present term of office expires, Dec. 10. He will enter the practice of law Jan. 1, 1896. The family of the governor will take up their quarters in Louisville, Dec. 11.

The Sixth Auditor.

Washington, D. C. Oct. 30.—Every business transaction of the government involving the payment of money, from the millions appropriated for pensions and war ships, down to the smallest money order, has to be passed upon by officials of the Treasury Department before the matter is finally settled. To audit this enormous number of bills, involving several hundred millions of dollars each year, the Treasury Department is provided with six divisions of accountants, each having its own branch of the public service to look after.

The Sixth Auditor, now officially known as "The Auditor for the Post Office Department," requires from 450 to 500 assistants to keep track of the business of that branch of the service alone. When the quantity of business done each year is understood it will be seen that these officials find plenty of work to do to "earn their salt."

When the present auditor, Mr. George A. Howard, assumed the duties of his office, he found himself confronted with an accumulation of thirty-five millions of paid money orders, which had to be first sorted by the paying offices and compared with reports of postmasters who paid the orders, and then rechecked by the issuing officers and compared with the reports sent in by the postmasters who issued the orders.

After the accounts are settled the orders are tied up in bundles and kept for at least ten years. Two hundred and twenty-four tons of orders issued between 1864 and 1884 have just been sold as waste paper, realizing the government $1,650.

As the result of the investigation of the "Docket" Congressional committee into the mode of conducting the work of the governments, a number of changes have been made in the Sixth Auditor's office. The old postal notes have been done away with, and a new money order has been issued with requires but a single checking and that against the paying office. When a postmaster sends in the orders paid during the week, he sends a list of them also. If the returned orders tally with the list the account is closed and that is the end of the transaction.

For the use of postmasters the orders are bound up in book form. Between the order and the stub are a series of coupons representing dollars and cents. The order is torn off in such a way that the coupons attached to it will represent the amount for which the order is drawn. The stubs are sent in with the reports of the issuing postmaster and if the coupons missing from the stub correspond with the amount given on the list his account also is balanced. This plan, borrowed from the United States Express Company, saves a vast amount of work, and reduces the number of people employed in the old "assorting division" by nearly a hundred. The domestic money order system includes over 20,000 post offices, and handles each year from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000.

Another branch of the auditor's office, the "Foreign Money Order Division," looks after the foreign exchange, for in the principle post offices of the country you can now purchase a money order upon almost any civilized country except Russia, Mexico and the South American Republics. These countries do not even have domestic systems. When a postmaster is asked for a foreign order he gives the applicant a receipt for the sum, and he draws an order upon New York if the money is to be paid in Europe, or upon San Francisco if it is to be paid in Asia. The New York or San Francisco office will send a copy of the order to the exchange office in the proper country and in that country the nearest postmaster will be directed to pay the money to the person for whom it is intended. In many countries, as in Germany, it is taken directly to the house of the party. There is no order given to be mailed by the purchaser directly to the payee, as is the case with domestic orders.

For the Canadian business there are six exchange offices, extending from Bangor to Seattle, and orders are drawn upon the nearest exchange office. The force auditing the domestic accounts requires some three hundred clerks, while a baker's dozen finds no difficulty in keeping up with the foreign business.

The "Bookkeeping Division" requires about seventy-five accountants. All of them are men, because of the great weight of the enormous ledgers in which are kept personal accounts with every postmaster in the United States.

The "Pay Division" audits the accounts of all classes of mail transportation expenses, amounting to upwards of $40,000,000 annually. The divisions referred to are the most important ones in the Sixth Auditor's Office. There are several minor divisions, each having its own particular line of work. The whole represents a wonderfully effective yet simple plan for regulating the postal system of the country.

All Smoke.
The Louisville Times says:
Judge W. H. Gardner, the State Inspector and examiner, is in the city to-day, en route to spend Sunday at his home at Ellensburg, Mo. He is appointed by Gov. Brown four years ago, and his duty is to examine closely the Auditor's office, as well as all other public offices in Kentucky.

CHAT'S PERIL.

A Story of Panther Hollow.

Written for the Press by Robert C. Haynes, Author of "Fent's Christmas," Etc.

[CHAPTER XIX CONTINUED.]

"Uncanny thing! I'm glad 'tis gone," Mused Chat. "It's very strange; And ghost or not, what'er it is, Don't want it in my range."

"Oh, me, will daylight ever come? Or shall I live to see The way from out this horrid place, Be rescued from the tree?"

"If I should ever reach home again, I'll lay down this good rule; I'll never ride another beast, Except Dock Driver's mule."

"What care I if he did fall down, And roll me in the gully? I gained the object of my heart, Now compensated fully."

"What matters it, compared to this, If I should chance to roll Down from my back, and go ker-plash In that old swimming hole?"

"What would it be, compared to this— Although 'twould be a slam— Should Dock's mule turn a summer-sault, And plunge me o'er the dam?"

"Yes, Driver's is the mule for me; I'll keep him too, for life. For if I'd been upon his back I'd now have had a wife."

"It makes me sick to think of it; My grief I can not hide; Instead of being among the spooks, I'd have a lovely bride."

"I'm tired, ay worn out, sitting here; 'Tis not a pleasant seat. This limb, not cushion'd suitably— This I need not repeat."

The hours passed slowly, slowly by, Chat welcomed the night. Low in the east faint streaks of red, The coming of daylight.

The wolves were still around the tree; Sometimes they'd give a yelp, Then look up eagerly at Chat. As though they wished for help.

But suddenly they seemed dismayed— The change, too—Chat had seen— And scampered off in great affright, And fear toward Wolf Ravine.

He had not long to wait to learn The cause of their fright: It filled his heart too, with despair, For 'twas a fearful sight.

A savage beast came rushing up— A panther—Chat could see It as it paused, looked up, and then began to climb the tree.

CHAPTER XX.

POOR LAURA.

The poets, painters, sages, bards Had always chose to dwell Upon the heaven-born theme of love, And of its beauties tell.

When Adam first beheld the form Of Eve, that she was fair, And she, in turn smiled back at him; 'Twas settled, then and there.

And so it is, and so 'twill be— Foretaste of bliss to come— The one great conqueror of hearts— The mystic power of love.

Though pessimists may ridicule; Old bachelors may frown; And maidens of uncertain age May doubt—but 'twill not down.

And just so long as man shall live, So long as true shall last, The love of love, unbreakable, Will bind hearts firm and fast.

The secret of all happiness; The banisher of strife; Unsuspecting in its fervency— It comes but once in life.

A wretch is he who but deceives— Who falsely nets his part! The same is she whose fickleness Rends some fond, and mummy heart!

As Laura, pale, yet beautiful, Sat, pond'ring o'er and o'er, A "sympathizing" neighbor came And rapped upon the door.

The night had passed and morning dawned; 'Twas Wednesday now no more; The business world's rush, push and stir Went on, just as before.

With those of whom we have to write, However 'twas different; Work seemed suspended, business stood; Postpon'd, with one consent.

"Good morning, Northerly," Laura said; He bowed and raised his hat— "How are you, Laura," he replied; "Heard any news from Chat?"

"No, Mr. Northerly," she replied; "No news yet—not a word."

"Well, Laura," Northerly then returned, "I'll tell you what I've heard."

"Oh, have you any news from Chat? Oh, tell it—do!" she said; "Say did he fall among the wolves? Is he alive or dead?"

Poor Laura scarce could speak the word O'ercome'd now by her fears, She bowed her head upon her hands, And sought relief in tears.

"Alive, I s'pose, Northerly replied— His voice was somewhat quiver— "For he, last night at ten o'clock, Was seen to cross the river."

"A gentleman who lives down there," Northerly went on, "says that A man and woman went across— He swears the man was Chat."

"I don't believe a word of it!" Cried Laura—"tell you that! What! Run off with another girl? I know it was not Chat!"

"And why did you come here, Northerly To bring such news as that? 'Tis false—'tis not his nature— 'Twas not my poor, lost Chat!"

Her eyes were sparkling as she closed; She rose, picked up a broom, And Northerly, taking to his heels, Went flying from the room!

As Northerly passed on by the gate— He stepped out very sly— Another man came walking in; This time 'twas Mr. Riley.

CHAT'S PERIL.

A Story of Panther Hollow.

Written for the Press by Robert C. Haynes, Author of "Fent's Christmas," Etc.

[CHAPTER XIX CONTINUED.]

"Uncanny thing! I'm glad 'tis gone," Mused Chat. "It's very strange; And ghost or not, what'er it is, Don't want it in my range."

"Oh, me, will daylight ever come? Or shall I live to see The way from out this horrid place, Be rescued from the tree?"

"If I should ever reach home again, I'll lay down this good rule; I'll never ride another beast, Except Dock Driver's mule."

"What care I if he did fall down, And roll me in the gully? I gained the object of my heart, Now compensated fully."

"What matters it, compared to this, If I should chance to roll Down from my back, and go ker-plash In that old swimming hole?"

"What would it be, compared to this— Although 'twould be a slam— Should Dock's mule turn a summer-sault, And plunge me o'er the dam?"

"Yes, Driver's is the mule for me; I'll keep him too, for life. For if I'd been upon his back I'd now have had a wife."

"It makes me sick to think of it; My grief I can not hide; Instead of being among the spooks, I'd have a lovely bride."

"I'm tired, ay worn out, sitting here; 'Tis not a pleasant seat. This limb, not cushion'd suitably— This I need not repeat."

The hours passed slowly, slowly by, Chat welcomed the night. Low in the east faint streaks of red, The coming of daylight.

The wolves were still around the tree; Sometimes they'd give a yelp, Then look up eagerly at Chat. As though they wished for help.

But suddenly they seemed dismayed— The change, too—Chat had seen— And scampered off in great affright, And fear toward Wolf Ravine.

He had not long to wait to learn The cause of their fright: It filled his heart too, with despair, For 'twas a fearful sight.

A savage beast came rushing up— A panther—Chat could see It as it paused, looked up, and then began to climb the tree.

CHAPTER XX.

POOR LAURA.

The poets, painters, sages, bards Had always chose to dwell Upon the heaven-born theme of love, And of its beauties tell.

When Adam first beheld the form Of Eve, that she was fair, And she, in turn smiled back at him; 'Twas settled, then and there.

And so it is, and so 'twill be— Foretaste of bliss to come— The one great conqueror of hearts— The mystic power of love.

Though pessimists may ridicule; Old bachelors may frown; And maidens of uncertain age May doubt—but 'twill not down.

And just so long as man shall live, So long as true shall last, The love of love, unbreakable, Will bind hearts firm and fast.

The secret of all happiness; The banisher of strife; Unsuspecting in its fervency— It comes but once in life.

A wretch is he who but deceives— Who falsely nets his part! The same is she whose fickleness Rends some fond, and mummy heart!

As Laura, pale, yet beautiful, Sat, pond'ring o'er and o'er, A "sympathizing" neighbor came And rapped upon the door.

The night had passed and morning dawned; 'Twas Wednesday now no more; The business world's rush, push and stir Went on, just as before.

With those of whom we have to write, However 'twas different; Work seemed suspended, business stood; Postpon'd, with one consent.

"Good morning, Northerly," Laura said; He bowed and raised his hat— "How are you, Laura," he replied; "Heard any news from Chat?"

"No, Mr. Northerly," she replied; "No news yet—not a word."

"Well, Laura," Northerly then returned, "I'll tell you what I've heard."

"Oh, have you any news from Chat? Oh, tell it—do!" she said; "Say did he fall among the wolves? Is he alive or dead?"

Poor Laura scarce could speak the word O'ercome'd now by her fears, She bowed her head upon her hands, And sought relief in tears.

"Alive, I s'pose, Northerly replied— His voice was somewhat quiver— "For he, last night at ten o'clock, Was seen to cross the river."

"A gentleman who lives down there," Northerly went on, "says that A man and woman went across— He swears the man was Chat."

"I don't believe a word of it!" Cried Laura—"tell you that! What! Run off with another girl? I know it was not Chat!"

"And why did you come here, Northerly To bring such news as that? 'Tis false—'tis not his nature— 'Twas not my poor, lost Chat!"

Her eyes were sparkling as she closed; She rose, picked up a broom, And Northerly, taking to his heels, Went flying from the room!

As Northerly passed on by the gate— He stepped out very sly— Another man came walking in; This time 'twas Mr. Riley.

CHAT'S PERIL.

A Story of Panther Hollow.

Written for the Press by Robert C. Haynes, Author of "Fent's Christmas," Etc.

[CHAPTER XIX CONTINUED.]

"Uncanny thing! I'm glad 'tis gone," Mused Chat. "It's very strange; And ghost or not, what'er it is, Don't want it in my range."

"Oh, me, will daylight ever come? Or shall I live to see The way from out this horrid place, Be rescued from the tree?"

"If I should ever reach home again, I'll lay down this good rule; I'll never ride another beast, Except Dock Driver's mule."

"What care I if he did fall down, And roll me in the gully? I gained the object of my heart, Now compensated fully."

"What matters it, compared to this, If I should chance to roll Down from my back, and go ker-plash In that old swimming hole?"

"What would it be, compared to this— Although 'twould be a slam— Should Dock's mule turn a summer-sault, And plunge me o'er the dam?"

"Yes, Driver's is the mule for me; I'll keep him too, for life. For if I'd been upon his back I'd now have had a wife."

"It makes me sick to think of it; My grief I can not hide; Instead of being among the spooks, I'd have a lovely bride."

"I'm tired, ay worn out, sitting here; 'Tis not a pleasant seat. This limb, not cushion'd suitably— This I need not repeat."

The hours passed slowly, slowly by, Chat welcomed the night. Low in the east faint streaks of red, The coming of daylight.

The wolves were still around the tree; Sometimes they'd give a yelp, Then look up eagerly at Chat. As though they wished for help.

But suddenly they seemed dismayed— The change, too—Chat had seen— And scampered off in great affright, And fear toward Wolf Ravine.

He had not long to wait to learn The cause of their fright: It filled his heart too, with despair, For 'twas a fearful sight.

A savage beast came rushing up— A panther—Chat could see It as it paused, looked up, and then began to climb the tree.

CHAPTER XX.

POOR LAURA.

The poets, painters, sages, bards Had always chose to dwell Upon the heaven-born theme of love, And of its beauties tell.

When Adam first beheld the form Of Eve, that she was fair, And she, in turn smiled back at him; 'Twas settled, then and there.

And so it is, and so 'twill be— Foretaste of bliss to come— The one great conqueror of hearts— The mystic power of love.

Though pessimists may ridicule; Old bachelors may frown; And maidens of uncertain age May doubt—but 'twill not down.

And just so long as man shall live, So long as true shall last, The love of love, unbreakable, Will bind hearts firm and fast.

The secret of all happiness; The banisher of strife; Unsuspecting in its fervency— It comes but once in life.

A wretch is he who but deceives— Who falsely nets his part! The same is she whose fickleness Rends some fond, and mummy heart!

As Laura, pale, yet beautiful, Sat, pond'ring o'er and o'er, A "sympathizing" neighbor came And rapped upon the door.

The night had passed and morning dawned; 'Twas Wednesday now no more; The business world's rush, push and stir Went on, just as before.

With those of whom we have to write, However 'twas different; Work seemed suspended, business stood; Postpon'd, with one consent.

"Good morning, Northerly," Laura said; He bowed and raised his hat— "How are you, Laura," he replied; "Heard any news from Chat?"

"No, Mr. Northerly," she replied; "No news yet—not a word."

"Well, Laura," Northerly then returned, "I'll tell you what I've heard."

"Oh, have you any news from Chat? Oh, tell it—do!" she said; "Say did he fall among the wolves? Is he alive or dead?"

Bed Blankets and Comforts Cheaper than Ever!

AGAIN WE COME TO THE FRONT!

WITH WHAT EVERYONE WOULD SAY
The Best Selected, Lowest Price, Stock of Goods Ever Seen in our County.

WE ARE SHOWING
A GREAT LINE OF

Wool Dress Goods, Satins, Crepons,
Ginghams, and Everything in the Dry Goods and Notion Line.

Remember
We Handle

No Shoddy
Boots or Shoes.

BUY YOUR GOODS
FROM

Men and Boys This cold weather will make you shed your linen and put on some good winter clothes. Get you a suit of clothes and Overcoat at less price than you ever heard of before.

See Our Goods, Get Our Prices. Make Money by Saving it.

It is about time for all to lay aside their slippers and summer shoes, and when you look out for your own interest by buying at the old low prices—from the best stock of Boots and Shoes in the Country.

PIERCE-YANDELL-GUGENHEIM CO.

INCORPORATED.

Hats and Caps in all the Latest Styles.

We have the Newest and Cheapest Line of

Ladies Capes
and Cloaks

EVER SEEN.

The Press.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

Vote for Uncle Jeff—the loyal, honest and capable old Democrat.

Gov. Brown has fixed November 8, for the hanging of Columbus at Bowling Green.

The facts and figures all show that State affairs have been honestly administered in Kentucky.

Newton & Robertson's dry goods store at Morganfield, was destroyed by fire Saturday. Loss, $22,000.

At Tiffin, O., a mob attacked the jail for the purpose of lynching a murderer, and two of the leaders were killed by the guards.

It is now stated that the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight will take place in private at or near Hot Springs today.

Bamberger, Bloom & Co., of Louisville, the largest wholesale dry goods house in the South, has made an assignment. Liabilities estimated at $1,200,000.

Four persons will go to the penitentiary from the Caldwell county Circuit court. Three of the men implicated in the Howton mob have been indicted for murder.

It was the man who went into the war and fought, and not those who remained at home that won our liberties from the British. What is true of war, is true of the other duties and privileges of citizenship.

Gov. Brown is not only a good governor but a good Democrat, he came from Frankfort to Henderson to register, and will make the trip again Tuesday to vote the ticket from one end to the other.

The trial of H. H. Holmes, the man accused of so many murders, was begun in Philadelphia Monday. Because he could not get a continuance, his lawyers withdrew from the case and the defendant will act for himself.

By all means let our citizens observe the sanitary conditions prescribed by the State Board of Health. We have had no diphtheria so far, while other communities near us are suffering. Let us not invite it.

Poor Cash Clay. Not a single word has been said in his behalf. The papers all over the state, the Louisville Post excepted, have roasted him in all styles for his pains in bolting the ticket. His home papers have not let him escape. His influence in the party is at an end.

This is a mighty poor time for Democrats to lag or to be laggards. It is easy enough to stand by your party when everything is running smoothly, but when there is internal strife, when you have been a little disappointed yourself in not getting exactly the man you want, then is the time to stand by your party.

Very few of us ever get every thing exactly to our taste, and he who fails to participate in affairs because his particular ideas are not always strictly observed is not a practical man. Put up with the best you can get and hope for something more to your liking next time. Let Democrats remember this when in the voting booth next Tuesday.

James Whitcomb Riley has completed a new series of poems in which he varies the treatment of each one to such an extent that they are said to show the Hoosier poet's versatility to a remarkable degree. He has given the series to the Ladies' Home Journal, in which the first is about to be published. A. B. Frost has been engaged by the magazine to illustrate the poems.

Not much has been heard from Jim McKintzie, since he came home from Peru a few weeks ago. A Times correspondent has recently interviewed him and finds that he will do like Carlisle, vote the ticket from top to bottom. Cash Clay seems to be about the only prominent man who proposes to bolt the convention.

If Hardin had made a dodge on the money question, there would be no talk of scratching; but he is honest in his convictions, and above board in stating them, and these qualities alone should recommend him to the voters. He is no artful dodger.

How a Democrat can afford to scratch Hardin is more than the State ticket can comprehend. A thoroughly competent man, whose integrity is above questioning, and one who has given incomparable service to his party at all times, he is the peer of any man in the state.

Congressman Hendricks is giving the State ticket an enthusiastic support as any of us. While he does not agree with Hardin on the silver issue, he most emphatically agrees that it is the duty of every Democrat to vote the ticket from Alpha to Omega, inclusive.

Congressman Stone is working like a time-tried and true Democrat, he is for the entire ticket. There is no sulking about him. The man who comes to time when he is out of office as well as when he is in, is a Democrat who believes in Democratic principles.

Elections for Next Tuesday.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Next Tuesday general elections will be held in Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah and Virginia. Governors will be chosen in Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Jersey, Ohio and Utah, provided the proposed constitution is adopted by the people of that territory, thus investing it with the full privileges of statehood. Failure of this result, which is not probable, would postpone a union to the Union indefinitely and nullify the vote for state officers.

Judge Holt and Mr. Samuel H. Stone addressed the people of this place Thursday. Mr. Stone made only a short speech announcing his candidacy for Auditor on the Republican ticket. Judge Holt presented the Republican side of the issues of the campaign in a speech of some length. He is a good speaker and made the best Republican speech that has been made here this year. He charges mismanagement in state affairs and advocates the single gold standard. The Republicans were well pleased with his speech.

John Hendrick's speech last Friday was one of the best that has been made in Marion this year. The crowd to hear him was small, but he spoke with none the less enthusiasm. His speech was devoted mainly to state issues, and the fair and impartial spirit with which he treated his subject, made him the more convincing. He did not discuss the currency question, but urged Democrats, irrespective of their views on this point to rally to the support of the state ticket. Nothing, he said, could be gained on this question by a failure to support Hardin—a worthy man, who had always been found battling for the cause of Democracy.

The report of the commissioner of Education for the year ended November 30, 1893, which has just been published, shows that the number of pupils enrolled in schools and colleges, public and private, was 15,083,630, or 22.5 per cent of the country. Of this number, 13,510,719 were in the public schools, and they had 122,056 male and 200,954 female teachers. According to the details of attendance, it appears that children in the United States leave school for about two-fifths of the year to engage in labor, or from other motives. In the last twenty years, the value of school property and the amount of common expenditure have more than doubled.

Mr. O. M. James returned from the Purchase Tuesday night where he has been making speeches for ten days. He visited every county and addressed the people in most of them. He has good crowds at all of his appointments, and had joint discussions with Judge Holt, Ben Keys, and Tom Pettit. The Democracy is stirred up and is at work with its old time enthusiasm. Ollie goes to Livingston county to-day. He speaks at Salem, Hampton and Carrville. He will also speak at Tolu Saturday night at 7 P. M.

John G. Will Vote.
Washington, Oct. 29.—Secretary Carlisle left this evening for Kentucky to register and vote at the November election.

Sues Goebel.

COVINGTON, Ky., Oct. 25.—Hallam & Pence, attorneys for Mrs. Marshall Stanford, have prepared her petition against Senator William Goebel, and it was filed to day in the Kenton Circuit Court. The petition charges that the defendant willfully, maliciously, and in self-defense, with a firearm, did murder the said John L. Stanford. She asks damages in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars.

In his speech, Congressman Hendricks referred to some facts concerning State matters that it is well to remember.

In 1867, when the Democrats took charge, there was a law authorizing a $3.00 poll tax, now the law made by Democrats allows a poll tax of only $1.50. In 1867, when the Democrats took charge, the school per capita, was only 72 cents, now, under Democratic management, it is $2.82. Then we had only 60 and 90 days school, now we have five and six months school. Then anybody who could read and write was allowed to draw the salary, now teachers have to be qualified.

It is charged that we are paying more for salaries now, but the facts are that we are paying the State officers the same salaries that were paid them in 1867. For ten years these salaries had been cut down: now they are right where they were in 1867. Some new offices had been created, because new interests demanded them. In 1867, we had very few railroads, now we had thousands of miles, and these great corporations had to be looked after to see that they paid taxes on their property like other people: we had no county Supervisors to see that the county was properly listed for taxation, and to make the railroads come up fair, we have railroad commissioners. We have mining interests that we did not have in 1867; we have banks that we did not have in 1867, and all these needed looking after, hence the necessity of some new officers:

In the Republican State of Michigan, where they have practically the same officers as in Kentucky, they pay their officers $160,000 more than Kentucky pays hers.

In the Republican State of Kansas, they pay their officers $59,000 more than Kentucky pays.

In Ohio, rock-ribbed Republican, the State pays $279,000 more to its officers than does Kentucky.

The Situation.

The tide has been against us and in our favor, against us again and yet another time our way. After the first joint debate between Bradley and Hardin it was decidedly against us. Then after the Eminence episode it was with us and Republicans were dejected and despairing. Bradley, however, rallied and a wave of Republican enthusiasm swept over the state. But the past ten days Democratic confidence has been growing. The people have become disgusted with overdone Republican campaign stories and refuse longer to believe them. Gen. Hardin has had an unexampled tour through the mountains, where it was said he had few silver sympathizers, but whence comes the news he will lead even the mountain men on the ticket. The Populist vote is being fast dissipated and Hardin gains. The western districts send even better reports those in the east.

The warring factions of the Sixth and Seventh have laid down their arms and promise fine Democratic majorities. The Fourth boasts that it will do better than the Standard for Democracy. But most significant of all is the present situation in Louisville. A visitor to that city to day will find a far different aspect upon the political horizon from that which existed ten days ago. Many significant changes have been made. Hundreds of prominent men, who were counted as lost to the Democratic party for the present, have relented and declared their intention to vote the whole ticket. Some of these have even become liberal contributors to the Democratic campaign fund. They have come to their sober senses. They have realized that the defeat of the Democratic ticket, or any member of it, this year, means that Kentucky will be hopeless to the Democrats in the presidential campaign next year; that the worst blow they could strike their own political favorites for the future would be to stab Hardin now; that to scratch the head of the Democratic ticket would result in minimizing Louisville's representation and influence in future Democratic conventions. The situation is growing better and better every day. It can be felt in the atmosphere. The Democratic campaign managers were yesterday in high spirits. Their good returns from all over the state were supplemented by a most satisfactory pull of Jefferson county showing 900 Democratic majority. The work of effective Democratic organization is going on rapidly in Louisville. The best men of the party have undertaken it. All is encouraging.

Upon the part of the Republican leaders in Louisville it is admitted that the Democrats are making considerable gains in that city. Privately they no longer claim with any show of confidence Bradley's election. No bets can be had from them. They still boast, and seem to believe, however, that the best Hardin can come to Louisville with 11,000 majority, and they have not abandoned all hope that they can overcome this there.

This is the true situation as the Messenger gets it from its own avenue of information from the Democratic campaign committee, who have not hesitated to frankly tell it the news that was unfavorable when it was unfavorable and from high Republican sources.

It is not claimed that the Democrats will win by an old time majority of 30,000 or 40,000, but it is quite manifest that the old party, which has never failed to carry Kentucky, will have a signal triumph on November 6, all circumstances considered. And if the gains continue during these closing days of the campaign, in the ratio they have come the past week, there may be a majority that will surprise everybody.—Owensboro Messenger.

The Daughters of The American Revolution.

The New York chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is one of the oldest and largest, and may be taken as a fair representative of the others.

Many Daughters of the American Revolution, with nearly twelve hundred members, is the banner State of the Union; New York comes next, her membership being about eleven hundred. In the South, too, the society is very active. That it is recognized as a very important institution is proved by the fact that two days, October 18 and 19, will be "Daughters' Day" at the Atlanta Exposition, and will be celebrated by meetings of society, and the reading of papers and addresses by prominent members.

Only two States are without representation in the society. In every direction it is growing rapidly in size and influence. It is already an important factor in American civil and social life, and promises as the years pass to become a very great one—a vast potentiality on the side of right and patriotism. Standing as it does for things which are highest and best in our civilization, the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution is an honor to this country, and a monument to the talent of women, so often denied, for organization and government.—From "Woman Guardians of Patriotism," in Demore's Magazine for November.

FREDONIA.

I will give a liberal reward for the return of a fine kufestolen from my tool chest, in stable shed, sometime within the last week. It had "compliments of Langstaff-Orm Mfg Co., Paducah, Ky., on one side of the handle and their ad. on other side, and another reward for the capture and conviction of the thief.

W. C. Glenn, Fredonia, Ky.
Lost:—Last Thursday between Crider and Princeton, a grip of medium size, with stains of apples, etc., on it, containing several dollars worth of medicine in powdered state; a lot of diagrams, measure, etc., for ladies dresses, a few garments, piece of cloth and other things, finder will be liberally rewarded for its return to Mrs. J. W. Hunter, Princeton, Ky. Any information regarding above articles will be thankfully received.

Mrs. J. W. Hunter.
I would like for the fellow who stole my saddle to return it at once and get rewarded.

George W. Glenn, Crider, Ky.

Hon. Judge Holt, of Frankfort, spoke to a large crowd in the court house in Princeton last Friday, on the financial status of our state, the cause of, and remedy for its present bankrupt condition; but we had as well stay in the frying pan as to jump into the fire.

Hon. John K. Hendrick was in Princeton last Saturday morning. Don't forget that Bugg & Loyd have the newest, fullest and best selected stock of goods to be found in this part of the country. Call and see them.

Sacramental services at the Baptist church last Sunday.

J. E. Crider and wife went to the Atlanta exposition last week.
Hon. John K. Hendrick is a better man than a great many accused him of being during his candidacy. The Bible says "do good for evil." He certainly obeys that command strictly and that is a great deal more than many of his persecutors do.
A tea party at Rev. J. N. McDonald's last week.

The smallest attendance at Sunday school at the C. P. church last Sunday that has been for perhaps three years.

The preacher said during the meeting that a great many people had "spiritual dyspepsia," but that is a disease, the doctors around here do not profess to understand, and advocate no especial remedy for the disease.

I have two good mares I would like to exchange for free coinage silver dollars or 25 cent corn. Call at once if you want the best bargains ever heard of.

W. C. Glenn.

The continued dry weather is becoming a serious matter in this part of the country.

William Perry, formerly of Princeton, has just returned after an absence of thirty or more years and will make this county his future home.

Born to the wife of B. F. Smith last week, a fine large boy. Not much over six years difference in ages of father and son.

Will Carter will make the race for constable in this district, and will no doubt get almost the entire vote of the district. He would make an excellent officer.

Thomas Phelps and Miss Early were married last week. This is the third time Tom has launched his barque out on the boisterous sea of matrimony.

J. W. Stegar, of Princeton, was in town Sunday.

Steven Bennett, wife and daughter, Miss Pursey, have been on the sick list for the past two or three weeks.

ANNORA.

Cook Rorer, of Caldwell, spent last Sunday with Dr. Rorer's family.

Thos. Gray and daughter, of Lyon, were visiting Rob't Gray's family last week.

The protracted meeting closed last Wednesday night.

John Faddy has moved his family and stock of groceries to Marion.

John Fuller, living in the Frances neighborhood lost his house and chattels by fire last week.

Rumor says there will be a wedding in the Lilly Dale neighborhood in the near future.

FOR SALE:—A span of fine work mules, cheap for cash.

T. J. Greer, Fredonia, Ky.

Dud Corley has bought the Zed Stephens farm.

Chas. Willhelm is on the sick list this week.

Electropoise

An Oxygen
Home Remedy
Without Medicine.

150 Fifth Ave., N. Y., Apr. 5, '95.
" * * * My confidence in the merits of the Electropoise—simple, convenient, economical and effective as it is—has constantly grown with my increasing observation and experience."
W. H. DePuy, A. M., D. D., LL. D.
(Editor People's Encyclopedia.)

Often Cures
Cases
Pronounced
"Incurable"

ELECTROPOISE
put on trial at reasonable rates.

DuBOIS & WEBB,
513 Fourth Ave.,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Mention this paper when writing.

WHAT!
The Great Enquirer
ONLY 50 CTS. A YEAR?

YES!

And any one sending two yearly subscribers at 50 cts. each, gets a Free Copy One Year.

An 8-page paper and 9 long columns to a page, makes it the Largest in Size!

Cheapest in Price!

Always Most Reliable for Facts, Truth and Markets.

THE BEST

Family Newspaper in United States for News, Intelligence, Fashions, Household, General Miscellaneous Reading Matter, Stories, etc.

PAY TO AGENTS

Double that of other papers. An excellent opportunity for those out of employment to make money. Try it. Samples free. Address,

ENQUIRER COMPANY,
CINCINNATI, O.

NOT WHAT WE SAY, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla Does, that is the story of the market and success. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31 1895.

LOCAL NEWS.

Election next Tuesday.

Dr. T. H. Cossitt, Dentist, Marion.

Ben Mc. did not move yesterday.

Dr. Jordan, the dentist, of Marion.

Cash huckles at Cochran & Baker's.

Stove pipes at Cochran & Baker's.

Be sure to see Browning's Scientific chum.

The best of apples are selling at 20 cents.

The hickory nut crop is said to be immense.

Th demand for good farms in this county is good.

Circuit court the second Monday in November.

The pavement in court-house yard has been repaired.

Crittenden county as well as Marion needs water works now.

A double wedding in the Ford Ferry neighborhood next week.

Plenty of ice Tuesday morning where there was water to make it.

Work will be commenced on the new Masonic building in a few days.

J. B. Grierson has transferred his pool table license to Faidly & Ballard.

The county has but two incorporated towns—Marion and Dycusburg.

Quarterly Court convened Monday, and there was a pretty extensive docket.

Friday is the last day for filing suits for the approaching term of Circuit court.

Evening school in water, water, water. The schools, wells and cisterns are all going dry.

The teachers had a pleasant time at Tolu Saturday. All the teachers were not there.

Hon. W. J. Stone will address the people at Dycusburg, Saturday Nov. 2, at 1 o'clock, p. m.

The meeting at the C.P. church is still in progress, and good interest is being manifested.

The live stock at St. Hughes, sale brought good prices. The corn sold at 18 cents in the field.

A load of corn sold on the streets Tuesday at 20 cents per bushel. The ruling price is 25 cents.

Mr. W. F. Paris will be elected magistrate without opposition in Marion precincts Nos. 3 and 4.

There never was before in this county such an immense crop of apples, and they are fine ones too.

Mr. S. D. Hodge spent last week in Princeton. He is arranging his affairs so as to begin studying law.

As we go to press Hon. W. J. Stone and A. E. Wilson are addressing a large crowd at the opera house.

There are two things the Pages is anxious to see: A good rain, and a whole lot of folks paying up their subscription.

The pupils and teachers of two rooms of the school, heard the discussion between Messrs Stone and Wilson last evening.

Rev. S. K. Breeding will preach the funeral sermon of the late Mrs. Eliza Boston at Silom the second Sunday in November.

The original plan of the new tobacco house has been changed by the addition of twelve feet to its length. It will be 112 feet long.

Mr. Brewett Cook is at home for a while. The horse have quit running, and Mr. Cook's mail clerkship is not demanding all his attention just now.

The residence of John Fuller, who lives about seven miles south-west of town, was destroyed by fire Wednesday, about all of his household goods were lost.

Mr. W. D. Baird has been employed by the new tobacco firm, Blue & Woods, and will have charge of the new house. Mr. Baird has been with Mr. A. H. Cardin several years.

OF COURSE.

I am going to sell you some cheap goods, if you will come to see me. Will sell you my best xxxx tinware at rock bottom prices, queensware and glassware and woodenware at cost. I do this from the fact that I need more room for groceries. You can also buy 4 1/2 lbs of No. 1, coffee for $1.00 and 2 1/2 lbs of brown sugar for $1.00, and other goods in proportion.

Respy.

F. E. Robertson.

2000 bushels wheat wanted, highest market price paid.

Clark, Kevil & Co.

Don't fail to examine Mrs. M. L. Barnes & Co's stock of millinery goods you will find the goods up to date in style and at very cheap prices.

Goods are now being hauled from Marion to Carville on wagons, a distance of 22 miles. Navigation on the Ohio has closed, and this is the best point for Carville merchants to get their goods.

Wm. Coram came up from Carville Tuesday after a wagon load of goods for the merchants of that place. He says everybody down there now is for a rail road and for it by a large majority.

There has been a number of conversations at the meeting at the U. P. church. Rev. Chappell is an eloquent logical, preacher and the people have fallen in love with him.

Miss Nellie Butler, daughter of the late C. W. Butler, is very ill at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Will Mayes, west of town. She has lung disease and her recovery is doubtful.

There was a public literary entertainment at the school house Friday night, and it was a pleasant affair. The pupils of the school are taking great interest in their work, and the first examination showed material progress.

If you want a hat or suit of clothes go to the Cheap Store to buy it.

Mr. J. T. Woolf was in town Monday. He has recently moved from Kelsey to Salem and embarked in the mill business, and he protests that he likes milling better than merchandising.

Mr. John P. Reed, the stock man, who travels over the county every day, reports that about one-fourth of the wheat is up, and that which is up is very sickly looking. He thinks the outlook for a good crop is anything but encouraging.

Five steamboats, it is said, are hovering around a small pool of water in the Ohio opposite R. N. Grady's. They can't get forward nor backward, and if the water continues to assuage they will soon be in the middle of a sandy desert.

Had you observed that cough and other indications of a severe cold that our postmaster is nursing? He got it at Barnett's lake last week. He and Jas. Gilbert went down to have some fun with the fish; the old boat sunk in twelve feet of cold water, and the fish had some fun with them.

Mr. J. D. O'Bannon, of Benton, with a number of assistance, arrived yesterday, for the purpose of canvassing the county for Browning's Scientific chum, mention of which has been made in this paper. This chum is said to be the best thing of the age in its line, and as it comes with the best endorsement, the people will do well to give it a fair trial.

Dr. J. V. Hayden, of Salem, was in town Monday. He reports that there are yet several cases of diphtheria in Salem and vicinity, and he is surprised that the disease has not made its appearance in Marion. Our people would be wise if they protect themselves against it, and the immunity is to be had along the lines recommended by the State Board of Health, as published in this paper last week.

Judge J. F. Dempsey, the Democratic nominee for Railroad Commissioner, was in town Monday. He met a good many people and they were well pleased with him, and he was likewise pleased with them and the hearty reception he received. Judge Dempsey is one of the best men in the State, and his splendid qualities and gentlemanly bearing, easily made us forgive him for defeating our Bob for the nomination.

W. B. Yandell's new residence has about reached completion and it is one of the handsomest in town. Not only is the outside beautiful and substantial but the finish of the interior is elegant. Such houses add materially to the good appearance of a town; and Mr. Yandell has shown a commendable spirit of enterprise in putting up such a house.

In removing the judges stand in the court-house a few days ago the jailer found a letter under the stand; the first paragraph of the letter read as follows:

This the 24th day of April, 1871. Known by this that on that day this stand by which this little note is screened from the prying eyes of the world, was closed by the hands of J. W. McCaslin, J. H. Crudup, G. A. Martin and S. Heerick, the same four being the builders of this house.

The immense line of shoes at the Cheap Store is not equalled in quality, style, prices or quantity, this side the great markets of the country.

J. H. Morse, Manager.

I certainly am selling goods cheaper than ever before.

Mrs. F. W. Loving.

2000 bushels wheat wanted at once.

Clark, Kevil & Co.

The white caps, or night rovers, or regulators, as they are variously termed, are, according to reports, still abroad in some portions of the county. Various persons have been called from their beds to find themselves confronted with hands varying in numbers from four to twenty persons, and given orders to deposit themselves according to rules suggested by the nightly visitors. These affairs have been confined to a scope of country between Crittenden Springs and Hurricane. Saturday night a man in the neighborhood of Mr. A. Dean's was called up and out, and told that he must work harder, and that his wife, who had been assisting him in some field work, must not be permitted to do that character of work again. The man who was called out, first showed fight, and presented his pistol, but he was soon persuaded to forego any intentions of that kind. He finally agreed to do as directed, and the visitors left, promising to bother him no more, if he complied with orders.

For some years Mr. H. M. Cook has been worried with a large tumor on the back of his neck. Last week Dr. Clark removed it, and Mr. Cook is happy.

Rev. R. Y. Thomas has contracted with Mr. G. F. Jennings for the building of a nice cottage residence, near J. G. Rochester's, northeast of town.

Hon. Crit. G. Hughes, of Bowling Green, is booked for some prohibition speeches in this county this week. He has an appointment at Marion Nov. 2, at 7 P. M.

The Morgansfield Sun says: 'They are only offering 18 cents for corn in Henderson county, and Mr. A. G. Crutchfield, of Smith's Mills bought 200 bushels a few days ago at 15 cents.'

Hon. John K. Hendricks will speak at Salem, Monday Nov. 4. It will pay every man in the county to be at Salem that day and hear the congressman discuss the issues of the campaign.

One of the big cases in Quarterly court was on trial Tuesday. James Writtenbury sued Lewis O'Neal for $25.00 for killing a dog that belonged to the plaintiff. He got damages for $5.00.

Mr. Albert Weldon, one of the proprietors of the new mill at Tolu, was in town Monday. The mill is now running and doing fine work. The machinery is of the latest improved pattern and everything about it is first class.

M. Schwab is still building up his reputation as a hustler. Last week he shipped six cars of wheat and one of fruit; this week two of each. He bought in one day last week at Hampton and Salem 30,000 pounds of dried fruit.

Married at the Presbyterian church Carville, Ky., Oct. 23. Prof. M. C. Wright and Miss Ella Barnes, Rev. Crandall officiating. Misses Cora Dollins and Grace Gwartney; Messrs Albert Liken and Earnest Stalions attendants.

Some day, some time, some where, you will probably know what it is to have sick-headache. Do not go to the drug store and take a powerful liver pill, for there is something better to be had at no extra cost. Ask for a box of Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills (and Pellets). Simple but always effective; two separate medicines, one to cleanse the liver and the other to purify the blood, build up the strength and the appetite. Ask your druggist about it and get a trial dose of the pills.

Ben Mc. has traded for the Shady Grove mail contract.

Bonds Paid.

On the 25th R. W. Wilson, treasurer of the board of the sinking fund for Marion precinct paid off six of the precinct rail-road bonds Nos. 37, 38, 39, 40, 41 & 42, denomination of $100. The bonds were burned. This makes $1500 paid on the $15,000.

Deeds Recorded.

Horry LaRue to F. G. Cox, 217 acres for $2,500.

F. C. Nash to W. H. Towery, 6 acres for $500.

J. B. Cullen to F. C. Fash, 6 acres for $500.

Marriage License.

Marriage licenses have been issued to John W. Springs and Miss Alice Jane Woodall.

B. L. Shaw and Miss Iba L. Walker.

James H. Martin and Miss Rosa F. Johnson.

Will not commence buying potatoes until Nov. 15.

M. Schwab.

WANTED.

Two cars loads of hickory nuts. Ten car loads of corn one car of dried fruit 64 barrels of sorghum.

Will want two cars of green apples in two weeks. Get our prices.

M. Schwab.

HE MADE A CONFESSION.

Convincing Evidence from One of The Hewitt Howton Mob.

Princeton, Ky., Oct. 29.—James Witherspoon, Frank Thomas and Glenn Steffy have been indicted for complicity in the mob that shot and killed Hewitt Howton last summer in this county. Thomas made a full confession to the grand jury Saturday evening, and the conviction of the parties is certain, as there is enough evidence to secure this result without Thomas' evidence. It is understood that other indictments have been found, but they are kept close. Most of those who participated in the mob have left the county, and the bad gang of which it was composed is believed to be broken up. The trial of the three parties named is set for today.

The Best Things Going.

The teachers of Crittenden county, met in an association at Tolu, Ky., Oct. 25, and after a warm welcome address by G. E. Young and a dinner and supper from Tolu's genial citizens, the teachers proceeded to a-terchange ideas about the profession.

With Prof. Wilcox as President, C. B. Hina as Vice, and an attentive audience all conceded it to be the best thing going.

Among the best features of the program was a paper by Miss Luna Clement, in which she proved that it is heresy to think that "any one can teach our little ones."

A recitation was well rendered by Miss Della Kevil, while C. Evans in his subject of Demagogues vs. Pedagogues was truly eloquent, showing that he knew the right side of his subject, and that he as usual, was prepared to entertain an appreciative audience.

It would not only benefit pedagogues to read or hear this address by Mr. Evans, but we believe the demagogues would grasp some of the "best things going."

We also had short discussions on various subjects by our Supt. and other teachers.

We feel much indebted to the people of Tolu, for their hospitality, and deeply sympathize with those teachers whose stay-at-home qualities will not permit them to get some of "the best things going."

Alice Browning, Sec.

Goode Escaped.

The Sturgis Ledger of Friday says:

A United States deputy marshal, accompanied by an officer of this county, went to Missouri where they had located Wm. Goode, wanted in Crittenden county for house burning. They found their man where they expected and arrested him. He agreed to return with them without a requisition, and they started home.

Everything went well until they arrived in Cairo, Ill., Wednesday morning. Here as they were proceeding along the street Goode suddenly concluded to part company with his captors, and made a break. A lady passing along the street at the time and Goode ran past her and the officers were hindered from shooting at him till he turned a corner and disappeared. They instituted an immediate search, but their efforts to find their prisoner were in vain.

They finally gave up the hunt and returned home Wednesday night. A reward is offered for Goode's arrest and delivery to the authorities of this state and by his escape the officers had their trouble for their palas. However, it is only a matter of time till Goode will be landed behind the bars.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: 'I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results.' Trial bottles free at J. H. Orme & Bro. Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. n20-2w.

6 per cent to be Added.

Pay your taxes without delay. The 6 per cent penalty will shortly be added. Do not forget this.

Jno. T. Franks, S. C. C.

I have moved my tailor shop in the building recently occupied by the "Marion Monitor," in Bank building over Freeman's jewelry store.

M. E. Fols.

2000 bushels wheat wanted at once.

Clark, Kevil & Co.

Wanted Men.

I want 20 sober, hustling men to sell medicine or fruit trees, to begin Dec 1. Salary or commission. Call on or address J. W. Shelton.

Marion, Ky.

A Strong Fortification.

Fortify the body against disease by Tull's Liver Pills, an absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, malaria, constipation, jaundice, biliousness and all kindred troubles.

"The Fly-Wheel of Life" Dr. Tull; Your Liver Pills are the fly-wheel of life. I shall ever be grateful for the accident that brought them to my notice. I feel as if I had a new lease of life.

J. Fairleigh, Platte Cannon, Col.

Tull's Liver Pills

PERSONAL.

Mrs. L. Miles has been very ill several weeks.

John Warren Travis has moved his family to Marion.

Mr. Burr Caldwell, of Kelsey, was in town Tuesday.

Judge J. P. Pierce returned from Atlanta Saturday.

Mr. Ira D. Nunn, of Bells Mines, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. J. H. Ballard, of Lamasco, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. Will Adams, of Fredonia, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. Geo. L. Rankin, of Weston, was in town yesterday.

Mrs. Rankin of Uniontown, is the guest of Mrs. Anna Orme.

Mr. J. M. Flannery is out again after several weeks illness.

Mr. S. A. Nunn and wife of Bells Mines, were in town Monday.

Postmaster C. J. Boszman, of Tolu, was in town yesterday.

Rev. R. Y. Thomas, of South Carrollton, was in town yesterday.

Miss Mattie Henry, of Morgantown, is the guest of friends in Marion.

Mr. J. Harvey Hughes, of Weston neighborhood, paid us a visit Tuesday.

Mr. J. W. Weldon, of Tolu, was the guest of friends in Marion last week.

Messrs S. H. Cassidy and P. K. Cooksey, of Dycusburg, were in town Monday.

Mr. H. H. Word, of Shady Grove was greeting his friends in Marion Monday.

Dr. Finnie Johnson, of Tennessee, is the guest of Dr. J. H. Clark of this place.

Mr. R. N. Walker and wife are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ledbetter, of Elizabethtown, Ill.

Mrs. Sallie Flannery returned from Princeton Saturday, where she has been visiting her parents.

Mr. Lewis D. Woolf, the handsome young school teacher of Livingston county, was in town Saturday.

Mr. J. D. Asher, of Eldysville, was in town Monday. His family is visiting relatives in this county.

Mr. Carl Flannery was in town Monday, having recently recovered from a severe attack of fever.

Mr. Albert Butler, of Livingston county, was in town Tuesday. He is an enthusiastic Nicotins man.

Mr. H. A. Haynes attended a meeting of the District Stewards of the Methodist churches of the Princeton district at Princeton Friday.

Miss Kittie Woods, who has been spending some months with relations at this place, will return to her home at Augusta, Ark., this week. She made many friends during her brief sojourn in Marion.

Fresh Fish every Saturday at Clement & Criders.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the Spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine will set more energy in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at J. H. Orme & Bro. Drug Store. n20-2w.

Notice.

If you want a Tailor Made Suit of Clothes or pants go to W. P. Franks, Marion, Ky. You can get it at that time prices. In the T. J. Cameron stand. The largest line of samples ever brought to town.

Strayed or Stolen.

From my house 2 1/2 miles from Salem on the Marion and Salem road, on Oct. 19th one spotted or rather snake colored d. g. white breast, left eye glass or white colored, answers to the name of China. Any information as to his whereabouts will be duly rewarded by the owner.

T. A. Harpending, Salem, Ky.

Don't bring any more peach seed. Will not take them.

M. Schwab.

2000 bushels wheat wanted, highest market price paid.

Clark, Kevil & Co.

If you want nice tender steak, go to Clement & Crider's butcher shop.

2000 bushels wheat wanted at once.

Clark, Kevil & Co.

If you want some bargains in town property, see R. C. Walker.

Cash for butter and eggs.

A. F. Griffith.

Rev. J. F. Price attended the Grand Masonic Lodge at Louisville last week.

2000 bushels wheat wanted, highest market price paid.

Clark, Kevil & Co.

Largest and best assorted line of axes ever in Marion. Prices down.

Cochran & Baker.

Bring your dried fruit to the Cheap Store don't forget where we are, the corner brick.

J. H. Morse.

For Sale—8 head of good home raised horses or will exchange for corn.

W. W. Rice.

Marion Ky.

Do not buy a heating stove—either coal or wood—until you see our stock and get our prices.

Cochran & Baker.

I will have in a nice line of fall and winter goods in a few days.

M. E. Fols.

Take your prescriptions to J. H. Orme the only graduate and registered druggist in the county.

Big line of cotton and woolen underwear at the Cheap Store for men and women.

Window glass. The largest assortment in the county at J. H. Orme & Bro.

We have just received a big line of the best sausage mills on the market.

Cochran & Baker.

By giving stylish goods and full value for your money we hope to share your patronage.

Mrs. M. L. Barnes & Co.

A great variety of the prettiest goods you ever saw.

Mrs. F. W. Loving.

The best whisky in the county, Old Hickory, $2.00 per gallon.

C. E. Doss.

If bargains is what you want go to the Cheap Store they have the grandest assortment in the county.

J. H. Morse, Manager.

Lake salt $1.10 per barrel.

M. Schwab.

Cups and saucers 15 cents per set. Molasses stands 10 cents. Large glass pitchers 15 cents each. Set of glasses 15 cents.

M. Schwab.

If Troubled With Rheumatism Read This.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Apr. 16, 1894.—I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism and found it to be all that is claimed for it. I believe it to be the best preparation for rheumatism and deep seated muscular pains on the market and cheerfully recommend it to the public. Jno. G. Brooks, dealer in boots, shoes, etc., No. 18 Main St.

ALSO READ THIS.

MECHANICVILLE, St. Mary county, Md.—I sold a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm to a man who had been suffering with rheumatism for several years. It made him a well man. A. J. McGill. For sale at 50 cent per bottle by J. H. Orme & Bro. Druggists.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

&lt;

